Dulles Pledges Aid to Baghdad Pact Nations

Says U. S. Would Throw Force Against Aggression

ANKARA, Turkey (U.P.) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today pledged U. S. support to leaders of the Baghdad Pact alliance in deterring aggression. He also said the United States would throw "mobile power of great force" against any Communist attack.

In the keynote speech to the opening session of the alliance's ministerial council, Dulles also rejected Soviet proposals for any "atom-free" zone in the Middle East.

Dulles spoke as an "observer," since the United States is not a full-fledged member of the pact, an end greatly desired by its members.

The U. S. belongs to the pact's three main committees — on defense, anti-subversion and economics — and its support of the alliance is basic to its continuance as a deterrent to any possible Red aggression in this area.

"The United States wholeheartedly supports the Baghdad Pact," Dulles told the pact delegates from Britain, Iraq, Iran, Pakistan and Turkey.

Then he made the pledge that "mobile power of great force would, as needed, be brought to bear against any Communist aggressors."

In rejecting the atom-free zone in the Mideast, Dulles said the Soviets, by their statement last week,

Arthur Eisenhower, President's Oldest Brother, Dies at Age 71

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (U.P.) — Arthur Eisenhower, the President's eldest brother and forerunner for a subsequent pattern of family success, died Sunday night of a heart attack at 71.

The former banking executive had been in failing health for almost a year, but his death was unexpected. He had not complained of feeling ill when, shortly after 7:30 p. m. e. s. t., he collapsed in his suburban home. Friends said Eisenhower had planned to fly to New York today.

A family spokesman said funeral arrangements would not be completed until late today. In Washington, President Eisenhower learned of his boyhood model's death at the White House and cancelled plans for a dinner Thursday night. It was expected here that the President would fly to Kansas City sometime today.

Eisenhower is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Katherine Koeche, Amagansett, N. Y., and a grandson, Arthur Bradford Koeche.

Dr. Joseph Welker, Arthur Eisenhower's physician, said the thin-haired businessman had suffered from "an insufficient heart for a long while."

Eisenhower, who rose from a

Baron de Meiss-Toufflen Will Be Guest Speaker at Dinner Club Meeting Feb. 1

Baron de Meiss-Toufflen, titled Swabian who couldn't stand the monotony of a desk job in a bank which his parents wanted him to assume for life, and who decided instead that a life of adventure was far more to his liking, will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Southern Illinois Dinner club, at the Kurto Country club Saturday, Feb. 1.

It was in 1935 that the young Baron made his decision to forsake the banking business. Since that time he has "tramped" or sailed almost every place in the world.

Among his most recent feats was his record in crossing the Atlantic ocean alone in his 30 foot yawl, in the amazing time of 58 days. The trip began at Casa Blanca and ended at New London, Connecticut.

Admitting he is an adventurer for the thrill he gets out of it, the Baron is considered by many as an outstanding authority on people and politics of the world. He has been to many of the globe's "Hot spots" in the Near East, in Asia, Africa, the Congo, Arabia and many other places where trouble has broken out recently. He served his country in World War II, and did some lecturing for America in Germany. He is author of a recent book, "Wanderlust."

Reservations must be made before noon on Saturday with Zola Sloan, Harrisburg, Clearbrook 3-3622, or B. E. Skelton, Eldorado, Bridge 3-6211.

No Decision on Plant Location by Dayton Firm Until Late February

Official Says County Area High On Company List

A Dayton Rubber Co. representative today revealed that the definite location of a Dayton Rubber Co. plant sought by Saline county will not be known until late February.

L. P. Kennedy, who has been inspecting sites and who was in Saline county in December, told J. Cecil Sullivan and Robert S. Davenport, two who have decided to interest in advancing industry into Saline county, of this fact in a telephone conversation this morning. Mr. Kennedy was at his office in Dayton, Ohio.

Mr. Kennedy said that at present several locations are being considered and that the one in the Raleigh-Galatia-Lake Harrisburg area definitely is high on the company's list due to the fine facilities that are available, such as ample water, gas, railroads, power, highways, and labor.

Group Invited to Springfield

Numerous rumors have prevailed the past several weeks regarding possibility that the Dayton company was moving into Saline county. Many have been unfounded.

Chiefly, the story of the attempt to secure the factory for Saline county has boiled down to this:

A group from Eldorado and Harrisburg went to Springfield several weeks ago at the invitation of C. W. "Runt" Bishop, head of the Illinois Commission for Industrial Development, where they met Mr. Kennedy. At that time Mr. Davenport made a strong plea to the effect that industry was needed so badly in the area that the public would lend every assistance to aid the advancement of the Ohio company.

Making the trip were Bruce Burnett, Frank Zoltan and John David Upchurch of Eldorado; Don Williams, Jack Davenport, Bill Franks and Bob Davenport of Harrisburg; J. Cecil Sullivan of Raleigh; Bob Henderson of the Department of Community Development of Southern Illinois University; and Mason Parker of the Central Illinois Public Service Co.

The above delegation, with aid from Mr. Bishop, prevailed on Mr. Kennedy to come to Saline county to look at the proposed site which Mr. Sullivan has agreed to donate to Dayton Rubber. During the Saline county visit Mr. Kennedy met with community leaders, surveying the site and receiving a proposal from local leaders.

To Re-Evaluate Site
Mr. Kennedy said he was impressed with the location and hospitality received here and since that time has had numerous contacts, chiefly by telephone with either Mr. Davenport or Mr. Sullivan relative to some industry or inquiry. They and others have worked constantly to fulfill all requirements asked for by the rubber company.

Mr. Kennedy in his conversation today indicated that he and other Dayton Rubber Co. officials will come to Saline county some time after the middle of February to re-evaluate the site and specifications. During this trip the group also will evaluate other sites in the Midwest which seem to meet their requirements.

Mr. Davenport said that public co-operation has been magnificent with many asking just what they can do to help get the plant here. About the only thing he knows now, he said, is to wait for the visit and to try to take care of any problems if they should arise.

Mrs. Helen D. Hall Named Assistant Manager of Social Security Office

Announcement was made today through the Harrisburg District office of the Social Security Administration of the promotion of Mrs. Helen D. Hall, field representative of the local office, to the position of assistant district manager. Mrs. Hall fills the vacancy created by the recent promotion and transfer to Chicago of Leland D. Cutting, who was assistant district manager in the Harrisburg office several years.

Mrs. Hall has been with the Social Security Administration throughout the past 13 years, during which time she was also employed in the Social Security offices at Mt. Vernon, Ill.; Lafayette, Ind.; Decatur, and Chicago. She is the daughter of E. L. Douglas, vice-president of the First National bank of Old long. Mrs. Hall is a graduate of McKendree College and is a member of the Harrisburg Woman's club, and the Methodist church.

In referring to Mrs. Hall's promotion, E. Bishop Hill, district manager of the Harrisburg office, stated that Region V-A of the Social Security Administration, comprising the states of Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin, has an exceedingly high percentage of women in administrative positions and that the region is justifiably proud of that achievement.

The vacancy created by Mrs. Hall's promotion has been filled by the promotion and transfer of James E. Fenton from the Social Security Administration office at Green Bay, Wis. Mr. Fenton is in the process of locating living quarters in Harrisburg at this time.

Only One Withdrawal From County Races

There was but one withdrawal from races for county offices in Saline county, it was revealed today.

Withdrawal was Everett Shaw, Carrier Mills, who had filed for the Democratic nomination for sheriff.

The withdrawal period ended Saturday.

Oscar Day, 60, Kills Self in Marion Hospital

Oscar Day, 60, a former engineer at the Carbondale district highway office who was well known in Harrisburg, was found dead with his throat slashed at Marion Memorial hospital Sunday, the United Press reported.

Mr. Day was a resident of Carbondale and a retired lieutenant colonel in the Army. A coroner's jury called his death a suicide. He was found in a bathroom adjoining his room.

Mr. Day had entered the hospital Jan. 21 and had been undergoing psychiatric treatment. Adolph Fluck, coroner of Williamson county, stated.

A doctor testified at the inquest that Mr. Day had been despondent.

Mr. Day had resided in Harrisburg during the late twenties and early thirties, during the construction of some state highways in this area. At that time he was an engineer with the state division of highways and had an office in the Saline county court house.

Three Held in Death Brookport Tavern Owner

METROPOLIS, Ill. (U.P.) — Three men faced arraignment on murder charges today in the slaying of H. H. Reynolds, a Brookport tavern owner.

The men were arrested shortly after Reynolds' body was found on the porch of his home here, three doors from his tavern, early Sunday morning.

In custody were Richard Farnley, 43, a Tennessee prison parolee, and Woodrow Arnold, 40, and Jack Lents, 25, both of Paducah, Ky.

Sheriff George Krueger said Lents was wounded in the struggle with Reynolds and was admitted to Riverside Hospital at Paducah for stomach and arm wounds.

Farnley and Arnold were held in the Massac County Jail. Police did not reveal the motive for the crime.

Krueger said Lents and Arnold admitted tossing the murder weapon into the Ohio River on the Illinois-Kentucky border while fleeing to Paducah.

Reynolds was stabbed in the heart and shot with a .38 caliber bullet, police said. A tin box containing money was found at his side.

SII Meeting at Southern Acres Saturday Night

Southern Illinois Incorporated will hold its annual January dinner meeting at Southern Acres cafeteria between Herrin and Carbondale at 6:30 p. m. Saturday with a good program in prospect.

U. S. engineers will report on projects of interest to the area and a report of southern Illinois progress during 1957 will be given.

Dr. Eugene Miller of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. will tell the part southern Illinois is destined to play in the immediate program for the defense of the country.

Reservations to the dinner must be made with the SII office in Carverville immediately, said the Rev. J. E. Grisham of Harrisburg, who plans to attend. He said persons interested in going could contact him for information.

Death Takes Mrs. Helen Patton

Mrs. Helen Patton, mother of Bert and Russell Patton and Mrs. Nellie Adams, was found dead this morning at her home on Route 45, Harrisburg.

The body was taken to the Keathly funeral home.

Funeral plans are incomplete.

Mrs. Betty Franks Seriously Hurt

Mrs. Betty Franks was seriously injured Thursday about 4 p. m. when her car hit a slick surface on the road near Thompsonville, was thrown out of control and turned over several times, ending up against a post. She was taken to the Franklin county hospital in Benton where she was treated for bruises and laceration and where about 15 stitches were taken in a scalp wound on her right forehead.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Burnett, 308 East Poplar street, parents of Mrs. Franks, brought her to their home from the hospital later the same day and are caring for her there. Her condition is still serious.

Mrs. Otis Pinnell Dies at Eldorado

Mrs. Maud Pinnell, 67, 1614 Newton street, Eldorado, died in the Pearce hospital at 3 a. m. Sunday, where she had been a patient for about three weeks. She was the widow of Otis Pinnell who died in November, 1957. She is survived by her son, Major Walter Pinnell, her daughter Mrs. Robert (Judith) Steinbrook, New Haven, and her brother, C. H. Martin, St. Paul, Minn. There are three grandchildren surviving.

The body will lie in state at the Martin funeral home in Eldorado and funeral services will be held there at 2 p. m. Tuesday. Rev. Eddie Hatfield will officiate and burial will be in the Lindale Memorial Gardens.

Beckman-Wright Fight for GOP Nomination Remains Top Contest

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.) — The Louis E. Beckman-Warren E. Wright fight for the Republican nomination for state treasurer remained as the top contest for the April 8 primary today as the deadline for withdrawals passed.

Fourteen persons who had filed as candidates in the primary withdrew Saturday before the noon deadline.

Elmwood Park School Supt. Gerald W. Smith has only the nominal opposition of Lar (America First) Daly, a perennial candidate, for the Republican nomination for superintendent of public instruction.

Cook County Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman and Madison County School Supt. George T. Wilkins are unopposed for the Democratic nominations for state treasurer and superintendent of public instruction respectively.

In the congressional districts, present State Treasurer Elmer J. Hoffman gained a clear field for the Republican nomination in the 14th District when his lone GOP opponent, Edward F. Deicke, Lombard, withdrew Saturday.

There are four candidates for the Democratic nomination for the seat left vacant by the death of Rep. Russell W. Keeney, Wheaton Republican.

Twenty-three of Illinois' present congressmen are seeking renomina-

Democrats to Nominate Two Candidates for Representatives

Committee Action Follows Plea for Two by Rep. Powell

The Democratic Representative Committee of the 59th District, in a meeting held in Harrisburg Saturday afternoon, approved a resolution to nominate two candidates for Representative from the district.

The action followed an appeal by Rep. Paul Powell of Vienna that the committee certify the nomination of two candidates.

In a majority of past elections Democrats of the district nominated one candidate for the House of Representatives and the Republicans nominated two. With three to be elected the nomination was equal to election.

However, this year there will be a contest for the three seats in the general election as each party will nominate two candidates in the primary election.

Rep. Powell, in his talk to the committee, reviewed the political situation in the old 51st District, going back to 1902. The records show, Mr. Powell declared, that from 1902 to 1956 the Democrats of the district had nominated two candidates for Representative only seven times—and had been successful in electing two only once—in 1932.

Committeemen Favored One

"There are some in the district that would have you believe that I am responsible for the practice of nominating only one candidate, but the record shows it was done long before my time. I have never appeared before the committee and urged the nomination of only one candidate, but I am appealing to you today to nominate two. Many think we can elect two and we will never know until we try," Powell declared.

Judging from the comments by the county committeemen as they cast their vote on the resolution to nominate two, the vote would undoubtedly have been 7-1 to nominate only one if Mr. Powell hadn't made the recommendation for two. Committeemen from all eight counties — Hamilton, Gallatin, Hardin, Johnson, Williamson, Pope, Mas-sac and Saline—in the 59th district were present. Ezra Heatherly of Saline county is chairman of the organization and Miss Gertie Hart, Pope county, is clerk.

In discussing the "political facts of life" Rep. Powell stated many were of the opinion each major party was guaranteed a member in the House of Representatives from each district. But this is not true, he said, pointing out the law merely provided for each district to have three members in the House.

For ten years, 1943-1953, the 27th District, Chicago, had a solid Democratic delegation and in 1931 the 10th district, including the Rockford area, had a solid Republican representation, the records show.

Followed Good Policy

And, Rep. Powell declared, there were times in past years when the old 51st district that it would have been possible for the Republican party to have elected all three representatives if the party had nominated three candidates and the Democrats two. "It has been good Democrat politics to nominate just one candidate so the party could maintain a representative in the House," Powell declared.

Following the reapportionment act, which changed the districts, it looks like a good time to nominate two candidates and "see how it turns out," the speaker told the group. Two years ago in the 59th district the Republicans polled 13,000 more votes than the Democrats.

The practice of a party nominating only one candidate hasn't been confined to this district, Powell said, adding that this year the Democrats in 14 districts and the Republicans in 17 districts would nominate only one candidate for the House of Representatives.

Neil Thurmond of Johnston City, a candidate for Representative, also spoke to the Representative Committee Saturday. A third candidate, not present, is Leroy Wilburn, Pittsburg.

Four-Year Cost Is Placed at $1.6 Billion

Key Provision of Measure Asks 10,000 Scholarships Yearly

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — President Eisenhower sent Congress today an "emergency" four-year program to speed up and expand scientific education and maintain American leadership.

Its key provision was for 10,000 scholarships a year for "able" high school graduates who lack the financial means to get to college.

To provide an adequate staff of trained college teachers, the program calls for 5,500 graduate fellowships over the next four years.

The President cited no dollar figures in his special message to Congress, but the estimated four-year cost was placed roughly at $1,600,000,000 — about one billion dollars in federal funds and 600 million in matching funds put up by the states and local communities.

More Scientists, Engineers

The President's budget called for an expenditure of 247 million dollars in the fiscal year starting July 1—including 225 million in new money—to get the science-weighted education program underway.

The National Science Foundation would get 80 million dollars to expand its scholarship program, bringing to 119 million the total recommended for the support of basic scientific research and study.

The President said the new program would help supply "additional highly competent scientists and engineers vitally needed by the country at this time."

"Our immediate national security aims—to continue to strengthen our armed forces and improve the weapons at their command—can be furthered only by the efforts of individuals whose training is already far advanced," he said.

"But if we are to maintain our position of leadership, we must see to it that today's young people are prepared to contribute the maximum to our future progress. Because of the growing importance of science and technology, we must necessarily give special attention to education in science and engineering."

Essential to Security

Marion B. Folsom, secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said the "survival of our freedom" may be at stake in the nation's classrooms.

He said the proposals outlined by the President were "an essential part of our national security effort."

"Meeting the country's educational needs—now and in the future—is a job for everyone," he said.

The heart of the President's program was the recommended provision of 10,000 federal scholarships each year for the next four years.

The college scholarships would be financed by the federal government but administration of them would be handled by the states. Scholarships would be allotted among the states on a population basis.

It would not be compulsory for students to promise to study science or mathematics but the states would be encouraged to give preference to students with "good preparation or high aptitude" in these two fields.

Railroads' Dilemma

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

It isn't news that the nation's railroads, particularly the eastern lines, are in increasingly serious financial straits. What is hopeful is that a Senate committee is digging into the problem.

A parade of rail presidents is passing before the committee, forecasting disaster for their roads if government relief is not forthcoming.

For decades it has been taken for granted that the rail companies do not generally find the passenger business profitable. Lines with heavy commuter traffic suffer especially since much of the equipment they need for rush-hour schedules stands idle the rest of the day.

Now, however, the picture on freight traffic, always the lines' bread and butter, is growing extremely dark.

Rail officials told the Senate group that the combination of mounting passenger losses and sagging freight volume has so constricted their financial reserve that they are being forced to curtail sharply outlays for improvements and new equipment.

Obviously, this situation could put the rails into a vicious circle. If they cannot spend for improvements, they will find it increasingly difficult to hold the customers they have and attract new ones.

If their position does not get better, many lines could fall into dangerous disrepair.

What Congress must decide is (1) how important the railroads are to the American economy and as a transportation network in time of war, and (2) whether they are really in the grip of a worsening competitive situation which will put many on the rocks if they do not get some sort of relief from the government.

At the rate the roads seem to be traveling downhill, Washington may not have too much time left in which to make up its mind.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: The Scourge Of Narcotic Addiction Is Cleaned Up In Ohio And Pennsylvania; Mayor Of Los Angeles Finds Slum Clearance Can Be As Important As Brooklyn Dodgers; Public Housing Can Be As Important As Public Highways.

WASHINGTON. — "The state of Ohio is going to put me out of business," remarked the grand old man of narcotics enforcement, Commissioner Harry Anslinger, the other day.

Actually Anslinger didn't look as if he was much worried about his job.

"The state of Ohio has adopted a 20-year minimum penalty for anyone selling narcotics," Anslinger went on to explain, "and narcotics addiction has almost stopped in Ohio. If we could get other states to be equally as tough I wouldn't have anything to worry about."

Anslinger paid tribute to former Gov. Frank Lausche, now senator, and to Gov. C. William C. Neill, former attorney general under Lausche, who both cracked down vigorously on narcotics.

Commissioner Anslinger, who has held high office about as long as any public servant in Washington, beginning with the Hoover administration in 1930, has a chart which should make some states think twice about law enforcement.

The chart shows that New York City has 43 per cent of all the narcotics addicts in the entire United States. Illinois ranks second with 16 per cent, practically all of them in Chicago. California is third with 11 per cent; Michigan fourth with 6 per cent of the addicts.

"When the 'dicts started going from Ohio into Pennsylvania," Commissioner Anslinger said, "Governor Leader put through a law with a tough penalty for pushers. After that they stayed out of Pennsylvania. They have gone up to Detroit and Chicago instead."

Commissioner Anslinger hopes that the people of Michigan and Illinois will now wake up.

Note—A "pusher" is one who sells or pushes narcotics onto an addict. They are chiefly responsible for addiction.

Congressmen investigating slum clearance and urban renewal were flabbergasted when they listened to the testimony of their ex-colleague from California Norris Poulson, now mayor of Los Angeles. They couldn't believe their ears.

While serving in the House of Representatives, Poulson had consistently supported the real estate lobby. He voted against every slum-clearance bill that came before Congress. Furthermore, he was elected mayor of Los Angeles in a vigorous battle over slum clearance.

Los Angeles' then Mayor Fletcher Bowron had signed a housing contract with the federal government and cleared out some of the Negro shacks and Mexican tenements that contrast with the swimming pools of movie stars and the flower-decked campuses of California universities. Congressman Poulson battled against this, and won.

Afterward he used the vacant area which had been cleared by Mayor Bowron to entice the Brooklyn Dodgers to come to Los Angeles and use the land for a ball park.

But testifying before a congressional committee the other day, Mayor Poulson came out emphatically for slum clearance and urban renewal.

"Mr. Mayor, your views are very interesting," commented Congressman Albert Rains of Alabama, "but they are somewhat different from those you espoused while you were in Congress. What caused you to change your mind?"

"Mr. Chairman," said Poulson, squirming a bit, "I want to confess that my views have undergone a considerable change since I served here in the House. I am now the mayor of the third largest city in the nation, and the responsibilities of my job have given me a new outlook, so that I can appreciate the position of those on both sides of this housing question. Yes, the intervening years have changed my thinking on a number of issues, including public housing."

"Well, I can hardly believe my ears in the light of the way you used to vote here in the House," replied Rains, "but in my judgment the change in you has been all for the good."

IKE IS NAIVE

Eisenhower's budget cutback on slum clearance and urban renewal is going to have rough sledding in Congress. Many big-city mayors, whether Democrat or Republican, share Mayor Poulson's view. They favor a 10-year program of between $3.5 billion and $5 billion of federal help to wipe out slums. They argue that if the Teamsters, Truckers, and the oil-gasoline companies could put across a $18-billion highway program, the mayors of American cities should get at least one-third of that for better housing.

They point out that Eisenhower's proposal to let the states assume the responsibility for slum clearance is naive. Eisenhower apparently doesn't realize, they say, that state legislatures are controlled by rural delegates with no interest in big-city problems.

MERRY GO-ROUND Mayor Wagner of New York is so surrounded by secretaries that he won't even take telephone calls from the Senate of the United States. . . . The Movers Conference of America horned in on Washington's tribute to one of its grand old men, Arthur Clarence don Smith, whose motto is "don't make a move—without calling Smith."

Smith is one of the most dyed-in-the-wool Democrats in the nation's capital but many Republicans turned out to pay him homage, including lovely Mrs. Ixy Baker Priest, treasurer of the United States. . . . The Movers Conference of America wanted to make it clear that the total annual business for all moving companies in the United States in '38 will approximate one billion dollars. One reason is the new multibillion-dollar highway program being put across by the administration. Up in New York a prominent Railroad Brotherhood leader was lunching with A. E. Perlman, president of the New York Central, who bemoaned the slump in rail revenues. "What has your friend Eisenhower done for the railroad industry?" asked the brotherhood leader. "He put across a tremendous highway bill for the truckers but what has he done for you?" Perlman came to Washington shortly thereafter to ask for remedial railroad legislation.

Encyclopedia of Southern Baptists Guide to Fastest Growing Religious Group

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press Staff Correspondent America's fastest-growing religious denomination published a 1,544-page profile of itself this week.

The profile, which comes in two massive volumes, is entitled "Encyclopedia of Southern Baptists." Its avowed purpose is "to give people of other denominations," as well as Southern Baptists themselves, "a guide to better understanding" of the history, beliefs and practices of a 113-year old religious body that has far outgrown the regional boundaries implied by its name.

Other denominations doubtless will avail themselves of the invitation to learn more about the Southern Baptist Convention. Its phenomenal growth, in the North and West as well as in the South has long been viewed by other churches with mingled admiration and irritation.

Both of these feelings are reflected in the very joke which is currently popular among Methodist clergymen:

"In ten more years, at the present rate of growth, there will be more Southern Baptists than there are people."

Night Surpass Methodists While the Southern Baptists may not reach that goal, it does seem likely that they will, in a good deal less than 10 years, surpass the Methodist church to become the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

When the last official count was taken the Methodist church had 9,422,893 members to 8,708,823 for the Southern Baptist Convention. But that was in 1956, and many churchmen feel the gap has closed considerably since then.

The Southern Baptist Convention was formally organized in Augusta, Ga., in 1845. Finding the anti-slavery agitation of Northern Baptists too much to bear, delegates from 165 Southern churches anticipated their state government's action. The Southern Baptist Convention was formally organized in Augusta, Ga., in 1845. Finding the anti-slavery agitation of Northern Baptists too much to bear, delegates from 165 Southern churches anticipated their state govern-

The scholarship of the young woman named All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be increased to $5,000. Girls who rank second, third and fourth in the nation will receive $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 scholarships respectively.

Social Security, Self-Employment Taxes For Farm Owners, Operators, Employees

Tenants on farms, crew leaders, sharefarmers and other farm owners and operators and their employees performing agricultural services were reminded by Internal Revenue Service District Director H. J. White that the social security amendments of 1956 make several important changes in their social security coverage.

If the cash wages paid a farm worker by one employer amounts to $150 a year, or if the worker performs agricultural services on twenty or more different days for one employer and receives cash wages computed on a time basis, the employer must report and pay social security taxes on such cash wages. This change in the method of determining taxable wages for farm workers became effective January 1, 1957.

Under the 1956 amendments effective January 1, 1956, the so-called "share-farmer" is required to report and pay self-employment tax if (a) the income he receives as owner or tenant of the land is under an agreement with another individual for the production, by the other individual, of agricultural or horticultural commodities; (b) the arrangement provides for material participation by the owner or tenant in the production or management of production of the products; and (c) there is material participation by the owner or tenant of the land in the production of these commodities. This means that beginning with the year 1956 the owner or tenant, in order to be self-employed and report net earnings from self-employment, must participate to a material degree in the management decisions or physical work relating to the production on the farm.

Sharefarmers, variously called "sharecroppers," "renters," "tenants," and "lessees," who operate farms under share-farming arrangements are specifically classified as self-employed individuals.

The 1956 amendments also specify that generally a so-called "crew leader," that is an individual who furnishes and pays workers to perform agricultural labor for other persons, is the employer of all the workers in his crew. The "crew leader" himself is self-employed and must report self-employment tax on his net earnings and also report and pay tax on the taxable wages which he pays to each member of his crew.

The term "farm" as used in the Federal statutes relating to social security and self-employment taxes includes stock, dairy, poultry, fruit, fur-bearing animals, and truck farms, plantations, ranches, nurseries, ranges, orchards and such greenhouses and other similar structures as are used primarily for the raising of agricultural or horticultural commodities. All individuals who will be self-employed and all workers who receive taxable wages for farm work should obtain social security account numbers by applying to the nearest Social Security Administration District Office. The location of such offices may be obtained by inquiring at any post office.

Mr. White advised taxpayers of this district who have any questions regarding this matter or any other Federal tax matter to telephone or visit the local office of the Internal Revenue Service. The local office may be reached by telephone CL 3-7993. The address of the local office is 111 1-2 North Main street, Harrisburg.

Matter of FACT

The word "drama" comes from a Greek term meaning "a thing done." A drama tells a story by means of action and speech. This art grew out of religious ceremonies, in which the life of a god was portrayed. Exactly when the drama began is unknown. However, it is certain that it was practiced in some crude manner by the ancient races.

EQUALITY

By Ida B. Coyle

Miss Linda Mahan and a guest Miss Donna Castle, who have clerical positions with the Standard Oil Company in Indianapolis were here for an over weekend visit in the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roby Mahan.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Miller moved last week from Harrisburg to the McCue farm home on Route 2 South of Equality. Mrs. Miller is the former Nancy Crest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Crest.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Wathen and son, Mike, arrived here Saturday evening for an over night visit with Mr. and Mrs. George C. Guard. They were enroute from Gideon, Mo., to Ottawa, Canada, where they are moving to join Mrs. Wathen's sister and husband in the Dixon business. They stopped in Dixon Sunday evening to visit the Ivan Wallace family and in Warren, Ohio, for a brief visit with Mrs. Wathen's relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wooley returned Thursday last week from a few days visit with relatives in Detroit, Mich.

A little daughter, weighing seven pounds and eleven ounces was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rexing of this city at the Harrisburg Hospital on Friday, January 17. The little girl has been named Mary Joan.

Miss Carole Coyle of St. Louis spent the weekend here with her mother, Mrs. Betty M. Coyle and family.

Mrs. Ira Adams and daughter, Miss Sue Stuart, returned home Friday from a few days visit with the former's sister, Mrs. J. C. Flagg in Poplar Bluff, Mo., and with Mrs. Kate Burton in Senath, Mo.

T. A. Steele made a business trip to Springfield Monday to attend the State of Illinois Highway Road Letting of Contracts held at the Centennial Building on Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. Bernice Huff returned Saturday from Sturgis, Ky., where she attended the funeral of her niece, Mrs. Vivian Jones. She was accompanied home by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Clara Glass, who will be her guest for the week.

Mrs. George C. Guard and Mrs. Charles H. Guard were business visitors in Evansville Thursday of last week.

Luke O. Stuart was in Blytheville, Ark., Tuesday and Wednesday last week to visit his aunt, Miss Georgia Lee Stuart and other relatives.

James D. Brewner and son, Jimmie, of Owensboro, Ky., made a business trip here Friday evening and remained for an over night visit with the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Brewner.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Guard had as Sunday guest their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. George Guard, Jr., of Carbondale.

WOMAN'S BIBLE CLASS MEET IN MCINTIRE HOME

The Women's Bible Class of the First Presbyterian Church of Equality met Friday, January 17, with Mrs. Thad McIntire as hostess.

The president, Mrs. Hallie Maas, opened the meeting. The minutes of the last meeting were read and roll call was answered with a favorite Bible verse, followed by all praying the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Maas gave the devotion based on the "Founding of the Church." Mrs. Gertrude Sutton was leader for the beginning of the new study of "The Government of the Presbyterian Church." During the interesting discussion, minutes of the organization of the First Presbyterian of Equality in 1832 by Rev. B. F. Spillman of Shawneetown were read by Mrs. C. H. Guard.

The meeting closed with the mishpah benediction. The hostess served lovely refreshments to the nine members and one guest, Mrs. Jane Yost.

TUESDAY CLUB MEETS IN DAVID SANKS HOME

The Equality Tuesday Club was pleasantly entertained in the home of Mrs. David R. Sanks, Tuesday evening, January 14.

Twelve members were present and an interesting meeting was held. Meeting opened with the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag and repeating the Club Collect. During the business session reports of committees were heard and a financial report was given by the secretary. It was voted that the club send a $5.00 donation to the Veteran's Hospital at Marion. Also that scrapbooks of cartoons be arranged and sent to the hospital at an early date. Mrs. Sanks also made an announcement that the Equality Tuesday Club is sponsoring a speaker, Mrs. Marion Channon, of Herrin, Field Representative of the American Cancer Society who will speak to all interested women of the community, this meeting to be held in the downstairs rooms of the Equality Methodist Church on Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock, January 28, and that there will be no admission charge.

Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Roll call response was "A Current Event."

To take place of a regular program subject each member gave a short talk on "New Year Resolutions" and many interesting resolves were covered.

As a special feature the hostess had prepared two beautifully decorated birthday cakes, one on a musical stand for Mrs. T. R. Brewner and Mrs. Robert Barnett whose birthdays occurred the past week.

The birthday music was enjoyed after which the cakes were cut by the donors and served with the other refreshments of the evening.

The next meeting will be the Cancer meeting on January 28. All women are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Wm. Davenport had as over weekend guests their children. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Schmitt of Indianapolis, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. Leland Davenport of Clay City, Ill.

Father Patrick from Saint Meinrad, Ind., was here for the weekend to conduct services at St. Joseph's Church in the absence of Father Sims who is spending several days in St. Mary's Hospital in Belleville.

Mrs. Mabel Pickering, Mrs. Ida B. Purcell and Miss Alma Mahin were visitors in Evansville Saturday of last week. Mrs. Purcell remained as over weekend guests of friends, returning home Tuesday.

Surprise Pink and Blue Shower for Mrs. Sue Renn

On the evening of January 15, Mrs. Jody Gelsco, formerly Jody Kennedy of Harrisburg honored Sue Renn, formerly Sue Steele of Equality with a surprise pink and blue shower at Mrs. Gelsco's home in Metropolis.

Mrs. Ted Steele, mother of Sue, drove to Metropolis, Wednesday to attend the shower and spend the night with the Renns.

Sixteen were present, several formerly of Harrisburg, Mrs. David Jordan, Mrs. Wyndell Kibler, Mrs. Georgianna Walker Moorman, Mrs. Bob Wills, Mrs. H. D. Tucker, Mrs. Leroy Teckenbrock, Mrs. Ruth Adkins, Mrs. Bill Harris, Mrs. Lucy Dalewick, Mrs. Wilma Lassiter, Mrs. Charlene Shirte, Miss Sue Taylor, Miss Goopie Holzer, Mrs. Ted Steele and the honoree, Mrs. Renn, and hostess, Mrs. Gelsco.

Those sending gifts were Miss Wanda Baker, Mrs. Augusta Fuhr and Mrs. T. Y. Williams Sr., of Equality.

News from the State Capitol

The cost of hired farm labor in Illinois during 1957 was the highest on record.

The average hired farm laborer in Illinois, without room and board, received $1.07 per hour during '57.

Director Stillman J. Stanard of the Illinois Department of Agriculture said workers averaged $1.06 per hour in 1956 and are now making almost as much money for one hour's work as they did for a day's labor in the midst of the depression. In April 1933 the wage rate dipped to $1.15 per day, less than that of 1898.

For the third straight year, law enforcement officers of the Illinois Department of Conservation during 1957 obtained more convictions of game and fish code violators than in the preceding year, it was announced by Director Glen D. Palmer.

The record compiled by the law enforcement division headed by James Fitzgerald of Aurora showed a total of 2,115 convictions as compared to 2,019 in 1956 and 1,929 in 1955.

Rural letter carriers will take a pheasant inventory next week. The pheasant count will take place in 76 counties, January 27-31, and 800 carriers are expected to volunteer their services in cooperation with the Illinois Department of Conservation and the Illinois Natural History Survey.

During the past year the rural mail carriers volunteered their help three times—after the hunting season, during the breeding season and after the hatching season. Each checking period was of a five-day duration and results were mailed in by postcards.

The average number reported was 5 to 10 pheasants per 100 miles of road, although some letter carriers reported as many as 600 pheasants per 100 miles.

The information obtained by the mailmen will be used to study the influence of soils, weather and types of farming on the abundance and distribution of game birds. Dr. Frederick Greeley of the Survey said the knowledge should be effective in establishing pheasants in sections of southern and western Illinois, where they have been scarce despite a large number released.

Four months in 1957 were free of fatal accidents in Illinois coal mines, according to Ben H. Schull, director of the state Department of Mines and Minerals.

The months with no fatalities were February, July, November and December. The total number of mine deaths for 1957 was 21, compared with 20 deaths last year.

There were 74 non-fatal accidents in the mines in December. Mining injuries totaled 825 for 1957, a decrease of 203 from 1956.

More than half of the mine deaths during 1957 were caused by roof falls.

Hunting is becoming safer every year in Illinois despite record increase in the number of hunters, according to a report to Governor William G. Stratton from the Department of Conservation.

A year end summary showed on ly four fatalities in 1957, and a total of 18 accidents. In 1956 there were 21 accidents reported and seven fatalities. The previous year showed 24 accidents, half of which were fatal.

Too many people are concerned about how to stay young, and not enough about how to grow up.

Navy Frustrated In Attempts to Fire Vanguard

Missilemen Hope
Rocket Will Fly
By Middle of Week

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—Navy missilemen who have struggled for days to put a Vanguard rocket into the air with a U. S. satellite in its nose hoped today their bird will fly by midweek.

The weary but determined rocketeers worked in official secrecy until late Sunday night trying to replace parts and overcome mechanical difficulties which kept the slender Vanguard grounded and held back this nation's hopes of matching the Russian Sputnik, which ironically whirled over Cape Canaveral while they worked.

A little can be told today about the sweat and toil spent on new efforts to launch an American satellite rocket with silent encouragement from watchers on the beaches. The story of the tense, behind-the-scenes battle against weather and troubles in the rocket came from an authoritative but unquotable source for the first time Sunday night.

It was the first confirmation that attempts to launch the slender rocket actually were under way. Four times — starting on Thursday — it had seemed obvious to watchers on nearby beaches that the launching team was on the verge of triggering the "moon" launcher.

Each time the tell-tale signs were there — great clouds of liquid oxygen boiling around the rocket, flashing red lights, moving gantry tower — but the 72-foot Vanguard failed to blast up from its launching pad.

The source revealed that troubles stemming from a siege of foul weather had frustrated the launching efforts at first, and later caused mechanical troubles due to the rocket's fuel standing too long in the tanks while crews waited for skies to clear.

He said a final launching attempt scheduled Sunday was suspended "to allow time for correction of mechanical faults which have developed over the weekend."

He said the Vanguard still is expected to be launched "within a few days."

To Conduct Soil Meetings in Gallatin County

Joseph P. Vavra

Joseph P. Vavra, associate professor of soils in the Southern Illinois University School of Agriculture, will speak on soils and fertilizers at a series of four weekly evening meetings for farmers in the Gallatin county area, beginning at 7:30 p. m. Feb. 3 in the North Gallatin Community school at Ridgeway.

The sessions, scheduled for Feb. 3, 10, 17, and 24 are being made available without enrollment fee through the cooperation of the SIU Department of Plant Industries in the School of Agriculture, the local school, and the SIU Division of Technical and Adult Education. D. J. Heaton, vocational agriculture teacher at Ridgeway, is in charge of local arrangements.

A native of Union Pier, Michigan, Vavra is a graduate of Michigan State College, East Lansing. There he also received his master's degree in 1948. He obtained his doctorate in soil chemistry at Purdue University in 1952. Vavra joined the SIU faculty in June, 1951, to teach courses in soils and crops and to conduct fertility and crops experiments. While at Southern he has issued bulletins on Small Grain Varieties, Winter Oats as a Crop for Southern Illinois, and Nitrogen for Wheat.

Vavra's other experience has included general farming and teaching agriculture in the White Cloud, Mich., high school.

Byrd Opposes $5 Billion Hike In Debt Ceiling

By United Press

The administration's request that Congress raise the legal ceiling on the national debt by five billion dollars ran into opposition today in the Senate Finance Committee.

The House overwhelmingly approved the request last week, but Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) of the Senate committee suggested that the increase be held to three billion dollars.

He did so during testimony by Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson on the administration's request. Byrd said he did not consider the five-billion increase justified unless the administration expects a "substantial deficit" in the new fiscal year.

The administration's budget anticipates a 500-million dollar surplus.

Byrd suggested that Anderson consider the lower figure and report back before the Senate committee votes on the House-approved bill.

The existing limit on the federal debt is 275 billion dollars. It would be raised to 280 billion until June 30, 1959, under the House bill; to 278 billion under Byrd's proposal.

Attends Meeting Of Democratic Federation Board

Attorney Don Scott of Harrisburg was in Elmhurst Saturday to attend a meeting of the Executive Board of the Democratic Federation of Illinois.

At the Saturday night dinner meeting Congressman Malyn Coad of Iowa was the main speaker. Others on the program included Joseph Lehman, Democratic candidate for State Treasurer, James Ronan, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee and Paul Simon of Troy, a member of the Illinois House of Representatives and president of the Democratic Federation.

Atty. Scott, a member of the executive board, stated the state convention will be held in Chicago May 23-24 and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will be the speaker the evening of May 23.

The purpose of the Federation, Mr. Scott said, is to organize the Democratic and independent voters, working with the regular Democratic organization, and to organize clubs in local communities.

NYC Stock Off Slightly After Suicide of Young

NEW YORK (UP)—New York Central stock opened slightly lower today in Wall Street's first reaction to the suicide of Central Chairman Robert R. Young on Saturday.

The stock opened off 12 cents at $15.38 on a 12,000-share block. The opening was delayed one hour and 28 minutes as brokers tried to match buy and sell orders at an acceptable price.

Alleghany Corp. common slipped 25 cents to $4.25.

Young, who shot himself to death Saturday at his palatial Palm Beach, Fla., winter home, was board chairman of both companies.

Wall Street brokers had been primed for heavy activity in Central stock as a result of the weekend tragedy. However, they said the fact that the suicide occurred during the weekend probably would help to cushion its effect on the stock.

Alleghany Corp. announced that its directors' meeting, scheduled for this Wednesday, had been postponed. No successor to Young as chairman can be named until the directors hold their next meeting.

Alleghany President Allan P. Kirby, a long-time associate of Young, reported that the net asset value of the company's common stocks fell to $9.05 a share as of Dec. 31, 1957, from $12.86 a year earlier.

Kirby said the 1957 figure is based on the assumption the U. S. Supreme Court will reverse a lower court ruling blocking a plan for exchanging present preferred shares for a new issue convertible into common stock.

He said the firm's unaudited net income for 1957, including capital gains, will be approximately eight million dollars after taxes, compared with $6,094,728 in 1956.

Kirby said aside from his holdings, the Young estate would be the next largest individual holder of Alleghany securities.

Close associates of Young, whose financial battles and manipulations earned him the name "the Maverick of Wall Street," said the 60-year-old financier was in good financial condition when he died.

"He was still a millionaire despite some recent financial setbacks," an aide told United Press.

Young was chairman of both Central and the Alleghany Corp., a giant holding company which controlled New York Central and other Young interests.

Central President Alfred E. Perlman and Alleghany President Allan P. Kirby issued a joint statement after Young's death stating that the financial affairs of the companies were in no way related to Young's suicide.

"The facts would belie any such interpretation," they said.

The body of Young, who shot himself Saturday with twin blasts from a double-barreled shotgun at his palatial Palm Beach winter home, the Towers, was put aboard his private railroad car Sunday for its final journey to Newport, R. I., and burial in the family plot.

Three Children Killed in Fire

NORTHWOOD, Iowa (UP)—Investigators today blamed defective wiring for a fire that killed three children despite their father's valiant attempt to rescue them.

The victims were asleep in an upstairs bedroom Sunday when the flames swept the two-story farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Abraham. The Abrahams and four other children escaped the blaze.

Killed were Roger Abraham, 4; Barbara Eileen, 8, and Sharon Kay, 14.

Switchman Is Killed

PARIS, Ill. (UP)—Elmer Cox, 33, a railroad switchman, was killed Sunday when he was trapped between the couplings of two New York Central freight cars in the rail yard here.

Dulles Pledges Aid To Baghdad Nations

"advanced the grotesque thesis that only atheistic governments, as are the Communists, can have them," he said.

"The United States ardently seeks a limitation of armaments on the basis of equality. But never will the United States accept the Communist thesis that men, because they are religious, must deny themselves the means to defend their religious freedom."

The opening session was marred by bomb attacks on the U. S. embassy Sunday night by new propaganda blasts by the Soviet Union.

The promised U. S. aid is likely to be smaller than that asked by the Moslem nations which with Britain form the anti-Communist pact. The aid is needed for building communications, especially highways, between the nations and rerouting imperiled oil pipelines.

The pact members indicated they would make a strong appeal to the United States to join the pact but Dulles was unwilling to join in full. He is here as an "observer," with the United States subscribing only to the military, economic and anti-subversive committees of the pact.

One of the two bomb attacks came shortly before midnight when unknown terrorists threw a bomb which damaged a warehouse on the embassy grounds. The second came shortly after midnight when a bomb was tossed at a Turkish bookstore which sells American books near the embassy, and is often mistaken for the nearby U. S. Information Service (USIS) bookstore.

No injuries were reported. Turkish police launched an immediate investigation. The scene was a mile from the embassy residence where Dulles is staying.

Moscow, which tried to ruin the recent NATO "summit" meeting in Paris with a series of propaganda attacks, broadcast new warnings to the Middle East nations today that they faced the threat of "a big conflagration" if they let the United States establish rocket bases on their soil.

The subject of missile bases was expected to arise during the meeting but only Turkey, a member of NATO, is expected to get American missile bases. Turkish Foreign Minister Fatin Rustu Zorlu told a news conference Sunday Turkey would be "grateful" for the bases.

Meek Indicates Support of Some Democrats

CHICAGO (UP)—Joseph T. Meek, president of the Illinois Retail Merchants Assn. and a 1954 Republican senatorial candidate, has indicated he might throw his support to some Democrats this November.

Meek, who opposed U. S. Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) in the 1954 election, appeared Sunday on a television program.

Meek, whose organization represents the state's small businessmen, said when he ran as a Republican he believed the GOP might act to decentralize government and restore order in the retail sales business.

"But now I'm not so sure," he added.

Meek said he will support candidates for the Illinois House of Representatives this fall on the basis of merit and without regard to party affiliation.

Cave-in-Rock Resident Dies

Roy L. "Bill" Hamilton, 71, resident of Cave-in-Rock, died in the Hardin County General hospital at 8 p. m. Sunday. Funeral services will be held in the Cave-in-Rock Methodist church at 2 p. m. Wednesday and Rev. Floyd Hale will officiate. Burial will be in the Hurricane cemetery near Tolu, Ky.

217 Dead in Series Japanese Ship Disasters

WAKAYAMA, Japan (UP)—The roll of dead and missing climbed to 217 today in a series of marine disasters in a violent winter storm that sank a ferry boat with all aboard near the Devils Whirlpools of Naruto.

Revised figures by the Japanese coast guard said 168 persons were aboard the 500-ton inter-island ferry Nankai Maru which was thought to have capsized near the mouth of the fast-running Naruto Straits Sunday night. No bodies were recovered.

The ferry apparently was sunk by the whirlpools formed when wind gusts of 70 miles an hour swept head on against the tide racing out of the inland sea through the narrow straight into the Pacific Ocean.

Another 21 persons died when the 900-ton freighter Shofuku Maru capsized off Cape Shionomisaki, 70 miles to the south. Five survivors swam to the shore through the boiling seas. The body of one of the victims was recovered.

At least five other fishing boats or lighters sank off Japan's Pacific coast in the same storm killing 28 persons. Another 24 crewmen swam to safety in these sinkings.

The storm was the worst since September, 1954, when the railway ferry Tora Maru sank in the Tsugaru Straits between Honshu and Hokkaido in a typhoon with the loss of 1,300 lives, 59 of them American.

Mrs. Geneva Altmire completed the refresher course for instructors on the new First Aid textbook, Thursday evening at S. I. U. The class included instructors from most Southern Illinois counties and was taught by Dr. A. Frank Bridges of the SIU faculty.

Blaze at Peoria

PEORIA, Ill. (UP)—Damages were estimated at up to $200,000 today in a fire that razed a three-story building housing a car sales agency.

Three firemen were injured, none seriously, in fighting the three-hour blaze Saturday night that sent columns of smoke towering over downtown Peoria.

Four Highway Deaths in State

By United Press

Two teen-agers were killed Saturday in a two-car smashup near Wood River, Ill.

However, a United Press count showed that only two other highway fatalities occurred during the weekend for one of the lowest totals on record.

Victims of the Wood River crash were Paul La Ross, 17, Cottage Hills, and Jo Ann Probst, also 17, East Alton.

Wayne Coplea, 36, Bonfield, was killed near Kankakee Friday night when his truck turned over.

A Chanute Air Force Base serviceman, Robert Marquis, 34, was killed near Urbana Saturday in a two-car collision.

Junior High Students To Participate in WEBQ Panel on Blood Program

As part of the program being sponsored by the Harrisburg Junior high school to aid the blood program in Saline county four junior high students will participate in a panel discussion over radio station WEBQ Wednesday morning.

Students on the panel, which will be broadcast from 9:45 to 10 a. m. Wednesday, are Marilyn Davidson, Glenda Webb, Ronnie Morse and Charles Ragan.

Realizing the possibility of Saline county being dropped from the Bloodmobile program and also realizing how serious it would be for the country to not be included in the blood program, students of the Harrisburg Junior high school are going "all out" to bring the importance of the blood program to everyone in Harrisburg and make an attempt to get sufficient donors when the Bloodmobile comes to town to meet the county's quota.

The radio panel discussion Wednesday morning is just one part of the effort being made at the Junior high school.

Bride Chops Hair

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UP)—Miss Nguyen Thi Trah Has, 18-year-old daughter of a Vietnamese landowner, cut off her hair in front of the guests at her wedding today to protest her forced marriage. Her father, who selected the bridegroom, jumped into a river flowing past his house in humiliation, but was fished out by the guests.

Orioles Sign Dave Nicholson, Bonus Player

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Dave Nicholson, 18, baseball prospect who had most major league teams throwing him fat contract offers, today looked forward to service with the Baltimore Orioles.

He signed a contract Sunday night that called for a bonus estimated at $80,000—not the highest offer, according to insiders. Nicholson reportedly turned down $100,000 offered by the Chicago Cubs to join the Orioles, a club that he thought offered him the best opportunity. Only the Detroit Tigers failed to bid.

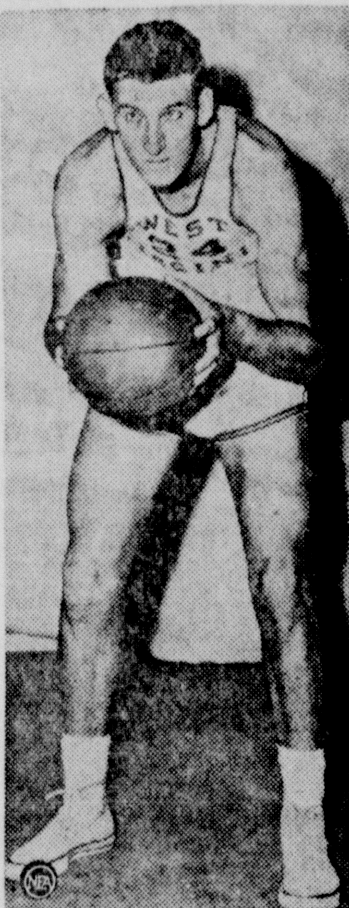

James Kieley, president of the Orioles, said in New York that Nicholson had received a "modest bonus."

Neither the Nicholson family, nor the Orioles, represented by Del Wilbur, a scout, would disclose the exact amount of the bonus.

Wilbur said Nicholson, a right handed outfielder, might be able to keep up with the pace at Baltimore after spring training at Scottsdale, Ariz. But he added that it was more likely that the 6-3 210-pounder would be sent to the minors where he could play every day.

The scouts, who have been eyeing Nicholson for more than a year, could not make an offer to him until Jan. 22 when his class graduated from high school. He was not a candidate for a diploma because he had withdrawn from school last year.

Baseball has frequently offered huge bonuses to top-flight prospects. The Cleveland Indians reportedly gave $125,000 to pitcher Joe Davidson, who never reached the majors, while the Milwaukee

Outcome of the incident was 20 stitches in Corvase's scalp, $1,000 loss and a brand-new $9,000 bank account.

Wildcats Win Tourney Championship

Beat Galatia, 84-64, In Final; Bull Dogs Trip Eagles, 72-60, for Third

The Carrier Mills Wildcats, for the fourth time in five years since the meet's inception, today held the championship trophy for the annual Saline County Basketball tournament.

The Wildcats grabbed first place honors by beating Galatia, 84-64, in the tourney finals Saturday night in Davenport gym.

Harrisburg took third place by defeating Eldorado, 72-60, in the first of the two Saturday night contests.

The Carrier Mills team had the honor of accepting the first place trophy from its school principal Carl Dillow, in a ceremony following the championship battle.

The Wildcats were never in any danger in the win over Galatia, which boosted their undefeated mark to 15-0 for the season. They led, 23-12, at the quarter, 47-31 at the half and 62-49 at the end of the third frame.

Rollins Outstanding
Big Vern Rollins and Carl Manier were the offensive guns for the Wildcats in the title battle as Gary Taborn, who broke the Harrisburg back the previous night was held to two free throws. Rollins, whose rebounding probably was the outstanding feature of the contest, had 25 points and Manier had 21.

Galatia got another fine scoring performance out of Thornton Davis, who had 21 for the evening. Carrier Mills outshot Galatia percentage-wise, 42-1 to 38-0, and with superior rebounding strength got off 76 shots to 50 for the Bears.

Carrier Mills made eight out of 21 the first quarter, 10 out of 19 the second, six out of 21 the third and eight out of 15 the fourth. Galatia made five out of 14 the first, six of 12 the second five of 13 the third and three of 13 the fourth.

Willis High Scorer
Harrisburg and Eldorado staged a nip-and-tuck battle the first period, which ended 20-19 with the Bull Dogs in front, before the locals got eight points in front the second frame. The teams battled on even terms the third quarter and the locals got 16 points ahead before the gap was narrowed to 12 in the last stages of play.

Eldorado's Leonard Willis was high scorer for the game with 24 points, closely followed by Bull Dogs Ray Hassett and Bob Pavelonis, who had 23 each.

Harrisburg had a good night or free throws, making 24 in 29 attempts. Hassett made 11 in a row before he missed his last shot.

The Bull Dogs shot 370 and the Eagles were a trifle better at 378. Harrisburg shot 65 times and connected on 24 while Eldorado made 22 field goals in 59 attempts.

A compilation reveals that Willis of Eldorado and Thornton Davis tied for scoring honors with 49 points each in two games. The top ten scorers:

| Player                  | Points |

Herrin Stops Marion, 43-35, to Capture Pyramid; Mt. Vernon Beats Attacks, 70-45

By United Press

In the widest wave of upsets so far this season, six of the top 15 high school basketball teams in the state took spills during the weekend, including Peoria Spalding, West Frankfort, Rock Island, Rockford East, Canton and Evans-ton.

Among the other ranked clubs, Pekin, Collinsville, Quincy Notre Dame, defending state champion Herrin, Rock Falls and Maywood scored double victories.

Springfield Lanphier, the only unbeaten team remaining in the top 15, captured its 14th straight victory, 70-56, over Jacksonville Saturday.

Peoria Spalding had its perfect record blasted Friday in a 64-55 loss to East Peoria, but came back Saturday to bowl over Washington, 70-50. Spalding is now 14-1 for the season.

Herrin avenged an earlier one-point defeat by clipping West Frankfort, 65-52, in the Pyramid Tourney at West Frankfort Friday. Then Herrin won the tourney Saturday by stopping Marion, 43-35, while West Frankfort demolished Johnston City, 81-50, for the consolation prize.

Mount Vernon jolted Carbondale Attacks, 70-45, Saturday for its 14th victory against two defeats, while Mount Carmel posted its 13th win against two losses Friday by beating Bridgeport, 89-70.

Pekin stretched its record to 12-1 by knocking over Champaign, 68-44 in a Friday Big 12 Conference game, then handing Canton its fourth defeat of the season, 82-54, Saturday. Canton lost Friday to Galesburg, 70-59.

Quincy Notre Dame piled up its 14th and 15th victories against a single defeat by trimming East St. Louis Lincoln, 67-55, Friday and taking Pittsfield, 57-50, Saturday.

Collinsville collected its 14th and 15th victories against Granite City, 77-49, Friday and Litchfield, 76-60, Saturday.

Rock Falls rolled up one of the weekend's highest scores in trampling Oregon, 109-48, Saturday after overwhelming Geneseo, 92-48, Friday. Rock Falls is now 16-1 for the season.

Rock Island and Rockford East both rebounded after Friday losses to gain a split for the weekend. The Rocks lost to Moline, 44-43, Friday, but then beat Kewanee, 57-53, Saturday. East lost to La Salle, 59-53, Friday, but beat Chicago Wells, 73-65, Saturday.

Only Two Games Tonight In Big Ten's Tangled Race

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten basketball contenders face another week of light activity starting with tonight's two-game card of Minnesota at Northwestern and Purdue at Ohio State.

Four contests Saturday wind up the week's work in a race so tangled that all but last place Illinois and Minnesota can still get lucky for a place in the sun.

The Buckeyes and the Boiler makers have the honor of engaging in the most significant game on tonight's schedule. A victory for the Buckeyes would boost them from a second place tie with Indiana and Michigan State into sole ownership of the runner-up spot.

The Bucks will be seeking their fourth conference victory. At the moment they share a 3-2 record with the Hoosiers and the Spartans.

Michigan's basketball crew was not slated to defend its 3-1 first place record until Saturday, ending two weeks of idleness.

A victory tonight for Northwestern would get the Wildcats back into the thick of things, and give them a 500 mark now shared by Purdue, Iowa and Wisconsin.

The Spartans moved into the second place rung Saturday night by scoring their third straight con-

MULEHIDE ROOFING MOORE PAINTS

STORY Ray
THE STORY: The Modocs are on the warpath, but Ward Sebastian does not believe it was an Indian who shot at him on the trail and killed one of his mules. Ward thinks he wounded the man, and will be looking for someone with a limp.

By the time the pack string reached and headed up the curving run of Shasta Valley, the darkness of day's end was closing in. A thin yellow glow had resolved through the misty dusk. A heavy voice lifted profanely and the pack mules slowed and began to bunch up. Sebastian and Sam swung wide and spurred up past them.

Here were tents and men in uniform, and several campfires hissing and smoking sourly in the wetness. Blocked off by this camp set squarely across the trail, the mules were beginning to mill uncertainly. A trooper advanced on them, waving a length of firewood. Thick-set, and wearing a sergeant's stripes, the trooper faced about belligerently.

"Get those mules out of here! Where's your sense, driving into this camp?"

Crusty Sam Lester leaned truculently forward in his saddle, a growl in his throat.

"Speaking of sense, soldier, where's yours, pitching your camp across a main-traveled trail?"

Before the sergeant could answer, a young officer in a long military overcoat came briskly in past the tents.

"What's the trouble, Grimes? These mules—?"

"The mules," cut in Sebastian, "were heading for Yreka along a trail they've traveled a hundred times before. They come up against a camp set across the trail. Who's to blame?"

Meeting Sebastian's glance for a grave moment, the young officer flushed, then answered quietly. "When you put it that way, I am. Daylight was running out and I had to get my men under cover. Other outfits had already taken up the better locations. I had no time to pick and choose."

The glow of the nearest fire was weak and uncertain, yet it reached far enough to touch the face of the officer and show a pair of steady eyes and clean-cut, sensitive features.

The faint lift of anger that had begun to stir in Sebastian, faded out.

"Fair enough," he conceded. "I can see how that would be. We could have been more alert. But we're just in from Tule Lake and the last time we were through, the trail was open."

Swift interest gleamed in the young lieutenant's eyes. "Tule Lake! Anywhere near the active area?"

"Near enough."

"What's the word? Here the talk has it that the latest peace effort was unsuccessful."

"No rumor," Sebastian said. "The peace palaver at Natural Bridge exploded in gunsmoke."

"There's been further fighting?"

"A little. Modoc raids have hit some civilians pretty savage. But the real showdown hasn't started yet."

"You believe then that this Modoc chief, this Captain Jack as he is called, will attempt to make a stand of it?"

Well, they had things to learn and learn them they would, and the lesson would be written savagely in pain and blood.

"Lieutenant," he said, tersely dry. "That you may surely depend on. Captain Jack will make a stand of it."

Grimes, the sergeant, spoke with a swagger.

"If he does, he'll find the Regulars a different breed than the state militia recruits, or some rag tag bunch of civilian volunteers."

Sam Lester, head tipped against the bitter drive of the wind, looked Grimes up and down.

"Will he now! My fine bucko friend, when this thing really starts, and you've had your stupid ears whipped off half a dozen times, then if you still be alive and I come across you, I'll remind you of that little brag!"

The final limits of the military encampment stopped short of the town of Yreka by some quarter of a mile, and when the harried pack mules finally reached this open area, impatience for quarters sent them at a gear-rattling run, and Sebastian and Sam Lester had to spur out ahead to slow the string and bring it safely in at Dan Orcutt's big corral and feed sheds at the foot of Oregon Street.

Leaving Sam Lester to hold back the mules, Sebastian pushed ahead and fet up with a tangle of pack animals massed before the corral gate. He sent out a reaching call.

"Ho, Dan! Sebastian, here. Get my string coming in."

Orcutt's reply was swift.

"Ward! Hold off for a minute. Holt, right there is what I've been trying to tell you. Get your outfit clear!"

Then came Provo Holt's tight and angry reaction.

"This I'll remember, Orcutt. And maybe at a time when you'll be wishing I'd forgotten. All right, McCloud, move 'em out! We got to hunt other quarters."

In the gloom not far from Sebastian there sounded a dull and weary cursing, and the jam of pack animals about the corral gate began to shift and angle away before the authority of a hard-swung rope end. Abruptly a slash whistled by Sebastian, barely missed him. He called:

"Watch yourself, Yance! It's dark, but not that dark."

At the other end of that rope was Yance McCloud, Kitty Dutra's brother.

How to Do It?

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
 (Written for NEA Service)

Is there something wrong about right? So many people hesitate to do what they know is right lest they be criticized or lest they be in error. Evil, wrong and sin are so obvious that it would appear easy to avoid them. Yet so many fall into error in stead of taking a chance on that which appears to be right.

Possibly men are blind in making their choices between good and evil. It seems more likely that they know the difference, but they choose the way they do in order to avoid the sarcastic guffaws of Satan rather than to seek the quiet of God.

In the long run, the inner satisfaction of knowing that one has done right is more rewarding than the worldly acclaim received for worshipping a golden cal or a man-made image. Doing right will become easier as we form right habits, and as we repeat right choices.
